Item 8.01 Other Events

In connection with the implementation of Revlon, Inc.'s (together with its wholly-owned subsidiary, Revlon Consumer Products Corporation, the "Company") previously-announced goal of improving the Company's profit margins by, among other things, rationalizing its international supply chain, on September 22, 2004 the Company exercised its contractual rights to terminate its supply agreement, dated as of October 31, 2002 (as amended, the "Supply Agreement"), with Creative Outsourcing Solutions International Limited ("COSI") by giving COSI the contractually-stipulated six months' written notice of termination that is scheduled to become effective on April 1, 2005. The Company intends to transition manufacturing primarily to one or more of its other facilities and does not expect any disruption in its supply chain.

Statements made in this Form 8-K which are not historical are forward-looking statements and are based on estimates, objectives, vision, projections, forecasts, plans, strategies, beliefs, intent, opportunities, drivers, destinations and expectations of the Company's management, and thus are subject to the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. The Company's actual results may differ materially from such forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements in this Form 8-K include, without limitation, the Company's expectations and estimates (whether qualitative or quantitative) as to (i) the Company's goal of improving the Company's profit margins by, among other things, rationalizing its international supply chain and transitioning manufacturing primarily to one or more of its other facilities and (ii) its expectation that such transition will not disrupt the Company's supply chain. A number of important factors could cause the actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statement. In addition to factors that may be described in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including its Annual Report on Form 10-K for 2003, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for 2004 and Current Reports on Form 8-K for 2004, (i) difficulties or delays impacting the ability of, or the inability of, the Company to improve its profit margins by, among other things, rationalizing its international supply chain and transitioning manufacturing primarily to one or more of its other facilities or (ii) unanticipated disruptions in the Company's supply chain could cause the Company's actual results to differ materially from those expressed in any forward-looking statement.
